Central Focus: This class invites students into conversations about the Hebrew Bible's concern for social justice in relation to the world today and each student's ministry.

Saturday Retreat Sessions: The Saturday sessions are structured as "retreats" devoted to three major themes:

- (1) The biblical quest for justice as a ministry issue.
- (2) The linkage between the biblical vision for justice and Catholic social teaching.
- (3) The on-going struggle to bring hope to a suffering world.

Weekly Zoom Conversations: Using a discussion format, the weekly Zoom sessions engage four key biblical perspectives on social justice and relate these perspectives to practical ministry situations. (See the last page of this syllabus for the course schedule.)

- (1) Unmasking the Powers: The Bible in Times of Dislocation
- (2) Envisioning Exodus Freedom: Building a Just Society and Covenant Community

Program Goals and Course Learning Objectives

The GPPM Program Learning Objectives for the core Hebrew Bible / Old Testament course stipulate that by the end of this course you will be able to do the following:

Goal 1

Students will gain a broad theological foundation that will undergird inquiry into a select area of concentration. (theological knowledge)

Objectives for Goal 1

A. Students will demonstrate an understanding of Fundamental Theology, Christology, Ecclesiology, Ethics, Hebrew Bible, and the New Testament according to the competencies articulated by each of these areas.

To fulfill Goal 1 and Objective A., students will construct Weekly Papers/Mini-Projects that analyze a pertinent ministry concern in light of key dimensions of the biblical text (Exile dislocation, Exodus freedom, Imperial violence, Prophetic social criticism, and Wisdom philosophic reflection on suffering). The reading of primary Hebrew Bible sources and secondary scholarly materials will form the basis for these written responses.

Goal 4

Students will demonstrate a critically informed approach to faith that promotes social justice for the common good, especially for the benefit of those in greatest need. (justice commitment)

Objectives for Goal 4

A. Students will address issues of inequity and injustice in light of the Christian witness.

B. Students will integrate the perspective of the poor and the marginalized in their reflection on theological and pastoral issues.

To fulfill Goal 4, Objectives A and B, students will address through Weekly Papers/Mini-Projects contemporary social and ministry justice issues, bringing the biblical text into dialogue with modern concerns (hermeneutical circle). The Saturday Presentations will provide opportunity to reflect and dialogue on key aspects of the question for ministry leaders today. Saturday session 1 will focus more on the process of bridging ancient and modern. Saturday session 2 will focus on dialogues about Catholic Social Teaching. Saturday session 3 will focus on solidarity suffering and being agents of hope.

How to Prepare for Class: Reading and Study Prior to Class

•Camino Overview Page: Every class session has an overview page on Camino. This page gives session information, the readings, background information on the topic, and the assignments.

•Reading and Assignments Before Session: The readings listed under each day's session should be read before that class. These readings will provide the basis for written assignments and class discussions. Note that the readings are a combination of "primary" sources (e.g., biblical texts), and "secondary," those of modern scholars (e.g., Brueggemann). Try to skim each reading if time is tight and focus on segments that appear to be most useful for your writing.

Course Website & Camino Page

Using Camino: A website on Camino forms the core of the course, providing ready access from on or off campus to the course syllabus and other overview materials. Camino is the University online learning management system. See "Where to Find the Readings" above for login directions. Course enrollment automatically adds our class to your list of classes on Camino. Camino is the repository for all course readings that are not in the required textbooks. Camino is also the site where you will upload your written work for this class. Please upload all work in Microsoft Word format so that the professor can use Track Changes to provide feedback.

Access Camino: When the reading is on the Camino course page, you can access Camino using your SCU user ID and password in one of three ways: directly from the Camino login page (<https://camino.instructure.com>), from the general SCU login page (<https://www.scu.edu/login/>), or from the Camino link on our course website.

Grading Percentages

- Class Participation/Contribution (attendance, in-class work, oral comments): 10%
 - Reflection Papers and Mini-Projects: 80%
 - Final Session Project: 10%

Grading Scale: Mastery Scale and Proportional Points

Mastery Grading Scale: Please be aware that this class uses a quality based scale factored against three levels of quality. Each assignment will be given a number designation (3, 2, 1, 0) and the final grade will be calculated in relation to these numerical designations (as an average of the total quality factors received). For your convenience, the numerical grade is also given here in relation to its letter grade equivalent.

3 = Full Mastery Attained = A

2 = Approaching Mastery = B

1 = Not Yet (Requires Revised Assignment Material)

Less than 1 = Has Not Achieved Mastery= F

Proportional Grading: Keep in mind that “3” points per paper/mini-project may seem rather small. Each paper could instead be 30, 300, or 3000 as the proportional math would not matter. However, bear in mind that each paper contributes proportionally to the total course mastery level and thus the final course letter grade!

Scale Percentages Related to Grades: According to the mastery scale used here: .66 is a B and .33 is a C since this is a mastery based scale and not the typical 100% scale where .80 is a B, .70 is a C, etc. A mastery scale is not curved grading despite the broad range of percentages.

Class Participation/Contribution

- Discussion Contribution: The theological exploration in this class occurs through dialogue rather than lecture. Thus, regular contributions to class discussions are expected. Class meetings can include brief lectures but will mainly be structured with periods of silent reflection, breakout groups for small-group conversation, and large group discussions. Please note: The instructor is a guide raising questions for class exploration (with occasional lecturing) and not a sage dispensing answers through lecture. You may wish to select a different section of this course if this approach does not suit you. In this class, all informed opinions matter as well as knowledge based on ministry experience.

- Assignment Completion: Students are to complete the readings and Papers/Mini-projects in advance of the class for which they are assigned.
 - Zoom Attendance: Engaged attendance and participation (with Zoom video on) is expected (see below for attendance policy). It is not a substitute for engaged attendance to watch a recording of the class; this will still count as an absence because you are not present to interact with and learn from your colleagues.
 - Discussion Boards: Engaged participation also includes making comments on the submissions of other students on the discussion board. These comments are posted prior to the class session.
 - Class Participation/Contribution: 10% of grade. (We will practice all learning objectives in class.)

Assignments: General Overview

There are two types of assignments during the quarter (described below).

1. Weekly Justice Papers/Mini-Projects: There are 4 of these assignments.
 2. Saturday Retreat Presentations: There are 2 presentations (group, individual).

Weekly Papers/Mini-Projects and Discussion Board Posts

Note that you submit the same material in two places each week!

- Graded Assignment: For the weekly Zoom sessions, you are to prepare and post your assignment for grading by the deadline (Paper/Mini-Project).
 - Discussion Board Post and Comments: You are also post your assignment in the Discussion Board and comment on the Papers/Mini-Projects of others in the class.

Weekly Justice Paper/Mini-Project Options: 13 Format Options

- Overview: Below you will find thirteen Format Options for the weekly Papers/Mini-Projects. These formats offer a variety of ways to experiment with different approaches for grappling with the weekly readings and related theological questions.

- Aim: These Papers/Mini-Projects are intended to invite you to deepen your knowledge of the subject and for you to develop materials/activities that will be useful to you in your ministry/work.
- Papers/Projects with a Purpose: The weekly Papers/Mini-Projects are not intended to be busywork or a waste of your time: But only you can make choices that matter to you in your learning and ministry!
- Selection Guidelines: Each week, indicate the format number and category you select. You may repeat formats throughout the quarter, but no more than three times for any format. This will ensure that you produce a range of ways to engage course issues. Focus on the Hebrew Bible, not the New Testament.
- Content: Papers are to be no more than 500 words long and the Mini-Projects should represent the equivalent amount of work. When referencing sources in papers, use fragment quotes from the readings (indicating source and page numbers) rather than whole sentence to economize.

Policies & Protections for Students

Attendance

If you're sick or some event prohibits participation, please notify the professor in advance by email. You are allowed one absence with no impact to your grade. If you miss three classes (30% of our meetings), it will not be possible to pass the course. The class will not be recorded for viewing a student gives several days' advance notice of the absence. Note that viewing a recorded class is not a substitute for your engaged presence in class and will be marked as a graded absence (except in the case of illness).

Zoom Policy

Zoom etiquette and practices are indicated on the Camino pages for each session. In general, this is a participatory class that expects video to be on during the session.

Use of Technology in & Recording of Class

The Student Handbook prohibits video- or audio-recording or streaming of private, non-public conversations and/or meetings, inclusive of the classroom setting, without the knowledge and consent of all recorded parties. If you require the recording of classroom lectures, discussions, simulations, and other course-related activity for a documented disability, please make arrangements through Disabilities Resources (see below) and discuss this need with the instructor. If for some reason other than disability you would like to record the class, please seek the permission of the instructor first, and then of the class.

Academic Integrity

Students at SCU pledge themselves to Academic Integrity, as part of the University's commitment to fostering a culture of integrity (www.scu.edu/academic-integrity). The Academic Integrity pledge, which applies to all students, states: I am committed to being a person of integrity. I pledge, as a member of the Santa Clara University community, to abide by and uphold the standards of academic integrity contained in the Student Conduct Code. You are expected to uphold the principles of this pledge for all work in this class. The standards of the University preclude any form of cheating, plagiarism, or falsification of data. A student who commits any offense against academic honesty and integrity will receive a failing grade for the course without a possibility of withdrawal. An offense may also dictate suspension or dismissal from the University, and the matter will be brought to the attention of the Graduate Program Director. It is each student's responsibility to understand what constitutes plagiarism and what the consequences are. Plagiarism is the practice of claiming, or implying, original authorship by incorporating material from someone else's written or creative work, in whole or in part, without adequate acknowledgment (footnotes or citations constitute adequate acknowledgment). Unlike cases of forgery, in which the authenticity of the document is in question, plagiarism is concerned with the issue of attribution. To avoid plagiarism, you simply need to attribute all ideas that are not your own to the true source, using the citation style appropriate for our class (see the style sheet on the course website). Try to avoid heavy citation of sources in your work, especially direct quotation. If your paper is mostly other people's words and ideas, your own original thought—your digestion, paraphrase, organization and synthesis of ideas—won't be visible. If you've cited the sources adequately, this would not be plagiarism, but it would be a low-scoring paper because there's not enough of your thought to evaluate.

Disability Accommodation Policy

If you have a disability for which accommodations may be required in this class, please contact Disabilities Resources, Benson 216, www.scu.edu/disabilities, as soon as possible to discuss your needs and register for accommodations with the University. If you have already arranged accommodations through that office, please discuss the arrangements with the professor during office hours early in the quarter. While the professor is happy to assist you, he is unable to provide accommodations until he has received verification from Disabilities Resources. For more information, you may contact Disabilities Resources at 408.554.4109.

Title IX Protections

SCU provides reasonable accommodations to students who are pregnant, have recently experienced childbirth, and/or have medical needs related to childbirth. Pregnant and parenting students can often arrange accommodations by working directly with their instructors, supervisors, or departments. Alternatively, a pregnant or parenting student experiencing related medical conditions may request accommodations through Disability Resources. SCU has a zero-tolerance policy for discrimination, harassment and sexual misconduct. If you or someone you know have experienced discrimination or harassment, including sexual assault, domestic/dating violence or stalking, we encourage you to tell someone promptly. For more information, please consult the University's Gender-Based Discrimination and Sexual Misconduct Policy (<http://bit.ly/2ce1hBb>) or contact the University's EEO and Title IX Coordinator, Belinda Guthrie (408.554.3043, bguthrie@scu.edu). Reports may be submitted online through www.scu.edu/osl/report or anonymously through Ethicspoint: <https://www.scu.edu/hr/quick-links/ethicspoint/>.
