1. Log on to Interfolio.
2. Select Activities under the Faculty180 tab in the left margin.
3. Scroll down to Teaching and open this activity category to reveal your course list.
4. For each course for which you are providing evidence, click the blue pencil icon. (n.b. If multiple sections of the same course appear, upload SET reports to the correct individual sections, but upload all other materials only to ONE section that you consider the primary section.)
5. In section “B Activity Classifications,” there is only one classification – whether the course reflects the University’s and School’s commitment to building diverse communities of belonging (Rubric sections 1h, 2a). If it does, select “Yes” at the DEI row, and in the “DEI Comments” box provide your narrative summary/reflection of the pedagogical approaches applied and the result.
6. Use “C Attachments” to upload files mentioned in your rubric. You may have more than one file for a given class. For each one, start by clicking the Add button.

8. At "Attachment," use the Choose File button to navigate to the Word or PDF document you are uploading, and click upload.
9. At "Type," select the file type:
 - Syllabus (self-explanatory)
 - Course Evaluation – for individual SET scores or department narrative evaluations (cf. 3c, 4b)
 - Peer Evaluation – for letters colleagues wrote after visiting and evaluating your class
 - Other – for any other course-specific evidence:
 - 1c – assignment, exam, project
 - 1e – lesson plans/notes
 - 1f – graded assignment
 - 1h – narrative summary of pedagogical approach and results (if specific to course)
 Use this also for rubric items 2b, c and d; 3a; 4a.

1. Select Activities under the Faculty180 tab in the left margin.
2. Scroll down to Advising Load and open this activity category to reveal your course list.
3. Create an entry for each year of your review period. In this example, an entry exists for 2019-20. If any changes need to be made to the information for that year, you would click the blue pencil icon. If you want to add information for another year, use the blue Add button.
4. In both cases, a window opens that allows you to indicate the number and academic level of your advisees (“A Number of Students”). Use the Start Term and End Term fields in this section to indicate the correct academic year for this information.
5. In the “C Attachments” section, you can upload the School of Engineering’s required list of advisees for the academic year you indicated in the prior step. For the “Type,” select “Other.”
6. Click Save and Add Another if you have additional evidence that satisfies entries 6b-f on the School’s rubric for teaching evaluation.

Note: If you mentored graduate students or post-docs, the School of Engineering considers this type of mentoring under the Research criterion. Instructions in the Research section below indicate how to enter these in the Faculty180 Mentoring activity category; do not enter them under Advising Load.

Teaching Plan, Weighted Average of SET Scores, Pedagogical Leadership, Rubrics/Assessments, Reflections on Indirect Measures of Student Learning and Course Revisions in light of Assessment Data

1. In Faculty180 Activities, scroll down to Other Teaching and open this activity category.
2. Use the Add button to upload your narrative “teaching plan, required in the School of Engineering.

3. A window opens that allows you to indicate the current period (“A Input Form”). For “Start Term,” you can use any term in your review period. For “End Term,” select “Ongoing.” Add a title for your narrative teaching plan.
4. In the “C Attachments” section, you can upload your teaching plan, weighted SET score report, evidence of leadership of a pedagogical activity, or department rubrics or assessments that you’ve developed, and discussions of course revisions based on assessment data (Word, PDF, and Excel formats are acceptable). For the “Type,” select “Other.”
5. If you have other entries to make in the Other Teaching activity category, such as guest lectures, events for majors/minors, and the like, you can use the Save and Add Another button to add a new entry.

Uploading Activities & Course Materials

1. Log on to Interfolio.
2. Select Activities under the Faculty180 tab in the left margin.
3. Scroll down to Scholarly Plans and open this activity category; the pop-up window is illustrated to the left.
4. Use the Add button to upload your research plan.
5. Scroll down to CV Uploads and open this activity category; the pop-up window is illustrated to the left.
6. Use the Add button to upload your latest CV.

Use the Scholarly Contributions and Creative Productions activity category for talks at SCU or other institutions (3a), publications in top-tier technical venues (3b), patents (4a), community-engaged projects (5a), and shared resources (5c).

Interfolio allows you to import your publications from certain external databases: Web of Science, ORCID accounts (if you have one), and Google Scholar (which incorporates data you might have entered on our own Scholar Commons). Guides for importing your publications may be found on the Faculty Activities Report \(FAR\) page on the Provost's website: <https://www.scu.edu/provost/faculty-affairs/evaluation-promotion>.

Grants

The screenshot shows the Faculty180 interface with a sidebar on the left containing navigation options like 'Announcements & Help', 'Profile', 'Activities', 'Evaluations', 'Forms & Reports', 'Vitas & Biosketches', 'Find Colleagues', and 'Account Access'. The main content area is divided into two sections: 'Grants - External' and 'Grants - Internal'. The 'Grants - External' section includes a table with columns for Title, Sponsor, Award Date, Status, Term, and Total Funding, and an 'Add' button. The 'Grants - Internal' section includes a table with columns for Status, Project Title, Type of Grant, Total Funding, and Start Term, and an 'Add' button.

The 'Input Form' is a detailed form for adding a grant. It includes fields for 'Status*' (a dropdown menu), 'for Term' (a dropdown menu), and '2023' (a year selector). There are also text input fields for 'Title*', 'Funding Agency / Sponsor', and 'Grant ID / Contract ID'. Below these is a rich text editor for the 'Abstract' with a '0 WORDS' counter. At the bottom, there is a 'Collaborators' table with columns for 'First Name', 'Middle Initial', 'Last Name', 'Author / Contributor Type*', and 'Percent Effort'. There is also a 'URL' field and another rich text editor for the 'Description' with a '0 WORDS' counter. An 'Add' button is located at the bottom right of the form.

Use the Grants – External and Grants – Internal activity categories for documenting grants received. The illustration to the left and steps below will focus on external grants.

1. Select Activities under the Faculty180 tab in the left margin.
2. Scroll down to Grants - External and open this activity category; the pop-up window is illustrated to the left.
3. Use the Add button to enter a grant.
4. Use “A Input Form” to add or edit the citation elements for your publication. Your name will automatically populate first line of the the Collaborators area.

Once a grant is entered, the Status* line will change to allow you to manage the status if it changes:

This screenshot shows the 'Input Form' after a grant has been entered. The 'Status*' field now displays 'Completed/Published for Spring 2018' and a blue 'Manage Status' button is visible to its right.

If you later need to change the status, for example, for a later FAR or promotion, click Manage Status and Add to add a new row indicating the new status and effective term and year. Do not edit or delete earlier status “rows” indicating the historical progress of the grant.

The 'Manage Status' dialog box is a small window with a close button in the top right corner. It contains three dropdown menus for 'Status*', 'Term*', and 'Year*', each with a blue border. Below the dropdowns are 'Save' and 'Cancel' buttons. A footnote at the bottom right states '* Indicates required field'.

Please list your service activities at the department, school/college, and University level, and provide some description to clarify your contributions and the significance of the activity. An estimate of the time commitment provides another measure of your service load (estimate the yearly hours and divide by the 33 weeks of the academic year to approximate a weekly figure).

For department service, include committees, activities, and projects, such as advising student organizations and honor societies, taking part in student recruitment/orientation efforts, contributing to program review, etc. Service as department representative on the Faculty Senate Council is also included here.

For school or college service, include committees, activities, and projects, as well as governance work at the school level (such as on a school rank, tenure or promotion committee or grievance committee).

For University service, include committees, activities, and projects at the University level, such as governance task forces, University Policy Committees, Faculty Senate leadership, the Committee on Lecturers and Adjuncts, the University Rank and Tenure Committee, as well as involvement with entities like the University Centers of Distinction, Residential Learning Communities, and the University Writing Center.
